

Nick Moores

I hate queuing for a taxi after a night out.

It's the last thing you wanna be doing when your tired and drunk. And fights always break out between groups that are waiting. I called 118 TAXI and they put me through to a taxi company that arrived in less than 10 mins. We ended up beating all the people still waiting in the queue. Now I use 118 TAXI all the time.